Abstract

The Painleve transcendents and their generalizations have aroused much interests. Yet the properties of some important generalizations as special functions still remain almost unexplored. This talk studies the monodromy and the boundary condition of these special functions.