

Abstract

We present the construction of a natural exterior differential system of globally defined  $n$ -forms, which is associated with any given  $(n+1)$ -dimensional oriented Riemannian manifold  $M$ . We show some subfields of application (hypersurface theory, integral identities, exceptional geometry structures, etc), where the differential system has made some significant difference.